

Why I Opted to Legalise Drugs

Consent and free will mainly, as we have the right to choose what we do with our bodies. which means we need to learn to assess our own risks in life. (and well we get to tax it as well, which has to be good)

However the problem with this is, is that drugs are bad, and people are stupid, and there are those who would rather decide for people what they can and can't do. unfortunately that solution only works while the people are credible, as soon as someone argues something wrong, you loose faith in the body, and you start to going it alone, resentment builds and before you know it, you have a war on your hands, and well I would rather trust government again, which is why I would rather legalise the drugs, allow people to advertise on the basis that drugs kill you, and then everyone else can go back to slugging them off, and we can begin to listen again, and trust government, as I don't trust them at the moment, as we seem to argue politics more.

obvious, that would lead to mixed messages, drugs are good, drugs are bad and you would get thermalide all over again, which is another problem, as I have to distinguish between recreational drugs, and health needs, and yeah I don't trust anyone, take nothing, take everything and before you know it, your screwed. and well you have to grow up sometime, so like it or not, your going to have to earn to use use your brain and reason it out. read the small print, drugs will kill you in the end, now listen to your mum, government and friends, then find the facts out for yourself. Whats good and what not, and yet people still come back and say that they have the right to decide for people, and you don't

We each have to make our own mind, on what is an acceptable risk, based on the facts, and if people are running around panicking, complaining of mutated it limbs, its perhaps a bad sign, and you don't want to do go there...

it gets a bit repetitive after that, people don't trust people and go with what we know, and why should you I trust you? they are in it for themselves, and its back to free will, and choice and I can't let people think for me ever, as it's a slave mentality, and people start assuming they are in charge, and they aren't in charge of my life as we're all equals on this world. i.e. the many don't get to tell the few, what they can and can't do, just because you think something is risky, or you don't approve doesn't give you the right to impose your views on them.

Letting people decide for you, is prone to abuse, someone fks up, and or pays someone off, and the next thing you know, people are going - "but they told me it was safe" - and it wasn't safe, ergo legalise the lot, and say, its not safe, and its your funeral, as people can but rat poison, but it doesn't mean they drink it. Your choice, your risk, and that's that. as there is no trust anymore.

obviously anyone being talked into anything, against their will is a dammed fool, and perhaps deserves to be removed from the human race, by their own incompetence, as I have no sympathy there, and well you have to learn to judge the facts, and formulate your own conclusions, based on evidence, and you live with the risks, now who are you going to let do your thinking for you ?yourself hopefully, but by all means "trust" your regulated bodies, who say that drug is bad don't take it, but those foolish enough to go it alone, well don't say we didn't warn you, but its your life, and your funeral, as you decide what is safe, and what is not. as I would rather listen to advice then be told what to do. as it only takes one advert of people trying to push morality, down your throat for me to turn off and go the other way... i.e. someone starts pushing politics, you ignore facts, and go with what everyone else is doing instead, there is no trust, just panic reaction, and well I can't abide by that, as I need to know, so I need the numbers, the stats, and well the stories of what others have tried... and I shall watch and learn, before I take the fools path 0, but its still my choice, and you have to accept that, please. else I can never trust you again.

The Devils Views...

likewise I have the right to kill myself if I wish, as its freedom of choice, as I don't think this reality is real anyway, and well its fking boring at the best of times, life is short and you might as well go with what you have as I don't want to live a slaves existence again.

Raising standards

I've watched people get ill, on an unregulated market, because they don't know what's in it, and well you need to know what's in things and if someone lies, you prosecute them for it, you go after people for telling a lie (including government) and well you have to be honest about it, so everything has to be legal, and people given the facts, so they question it themselves. else it all goes underground, and that fks lives up.

it comes back to trust, if your worried about a way of life, then your obvious crap at showing the facts, and you can't change people by suppressing them, get a better argument, or realise you've lost the war, as people will always opt for free will, over slavery, to make a point! inter alia bon sur as like it or not

YES I CAN, and YES I WILL, and the more you push me into a negative stance, the more I shall resist, and make my own life, as I have the god ridden right to be stupid, and that's the point. though I generally only stick with alcohol (assuming I had the cash) which I don't but, yeah free will again, some do, others don't and well I like my mind as is, but that doesn't give me the right to stop them having fun, or me, if I ever learn what it is!

Hypocritical stance re smoking kills, and its assault

I have no issue with people smoking in private, however the moment their smoke hits me, its assault, and I don't like it. ergo I have no issue with drugs, but I hate me being put at risk, directly. ergo I say no to that, in that context, unless someone invents something to stop the smoke bothering me... your life, and mine, deal with it. please. as my mind is legal, and well its assault, but the other is free will, and unless your attacking me, I can't really do anything about it, as its my space, and your life... remember that please medical community, and failure to treat taxation from the drugs goes to pat for the insurance, to treat and/or you just refuse them treatment, as its their fault, I'm not fussy here, as you each choose your risk, and while I don't want anyone to die, I know others will whinge, so if they feel that strongly about others having fun, then let them die, if that's what you want...

obviously those with money, will probably go private, as the nhs is crap, inter alia Anyway bottom line, it goes to consent, you either want to live in a world where others control your life, or one where you control your own, and well I opted for my own! andIf you don't like it -tough as I trust my knowledge, and my experience more then yours!